Good morning all,

Thank you for your email and update following our responses to the questions that were raised upon review of our initial TEN application.

I can confirm that we are not looking to formally withdraw our notice. We were under the impression that a hearing was to be held on Friday 26th March where a decision would then be made over whether our proposal was deemed sufficient, or whether further amendments / improvement to the application are advised.

This email suggests otherwise, and indicates that a hearing will not be held. Had reasons been provided then we would have optimised our plans again, however, the only thing mentioned is that 'Hampshire Police have confirmed that they maintain their objection based on one/several of the four licensing objectives'.

This is a business venture for four local gentlemen who have already sacrificed a considerable amount of time whilst working full time positions. We are all aligned and committed to providing a community driven, environmentally friendly and culturally diverse event for all age groups not only this year, but also future years ahead. Therefore, rather than withdrawing any applications, we aspire to work with all local authorities to reach a stage where all the necessary integrations have been made to the business / event plans so that our event can take place.

All four of the company directors derive from local families who play an important role in the Lymington and New Forest communities. Our vision for Southern Vibrations is underpinned by the close knit community that we have all grown up in and our objective is to give something back to the area that has offered each of us so much opportunity over the years.

One point which does puzzle me is that last autumn, when COVID restrictions were still in place, a pop up restaurant was introduced in residential area. The annual food festival also takes place in the same place. Having all attended both of these events we would love to understand the main differences between our proposal and the notices that were put forward on those two occasions. If we can reach a stage where our application is consistent with theirs, that would be a win win for all parties in my opinion.

We also maintain our stance on providing an event that caters for all generations of people who enjoy art, music, and local food. The seafood festival quite simply does not appeal to the younger generation. Yet there is a younger generation that also need to be catered for in

For your information, local businesses that we considering for the weekend of 4th - 5th September 2021 include:

- Onyx bars
- Trade Winds Gallery
- Gallery on the cobbles
- The Chilli Chain
- C.E.S Electrical

- Coastal Tents

We are still receiving a large number of emails who are interested in obtaining a spot also.

At this stage, we would really appreciate a little more guidance and support over exactly what is missing as part of our proposal. This is something we are extremely enthusiastic about and are willing to meet any criteria you require to move forward to the application. In my experience, a meeting is always more constructive than an email, and I'd be happy to arrange a phone call at your convenience.

I look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Kind regards,

Southern Vibrations Team

Good afternoon

Thank you for providing a response to questions as outlined in the objection lodged by Hampshire Constabulary.

However, Hampshire Police have confirmed that they maintain their objection based on one/several of the four licensing objectives.

Given this, I would be grateful if you could now please inform us by email at your earliest convenience (no later than Monday morning) to notify this Authority whether you now as a result of this, wish to formally withdraw your notice.

I look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience with a response accordingly.

To whom it may concern,

Firstly, we'd like to apologise for the delay in responding. Our email was listed incorrectly on one of the forms - please send all replies going forward to [REDACTED] as this is where we are reachable. Thank you to Christa for passing this onto our correct inbox - unfortunately it then went into the junk folder but we were able to recover it yesterday. As mentioned in the attached, we realise excuses provide little merit, however we really were all looking out for this email actively.

Please see attached our responses to objections and potential concerns, we hope that we have cleared up any outstanding issues for you.

Yours sincerely,

The Southern Vibrations Team
